

20 : Physiology

Hormonal regulation of stress and its impact on behavior.

This project will analyze hormone levels in response to various stress factors and their impact on animal behavior.

Laboratory experiments on animal models will be conducted.

The study will include the analysis of stress biomarkers and their correlation with specific behaviors.