

17 : Immunology

Study of immune responses to viral infections.

This project aims to characterize interactions between immune cells and pathogenic viruses, using flow cytometry and confocal imaging approaches.

A bioinformatics analysis of immune activation markers will be conducted.

The study will also include mathematical modeling of immune response dynamics.