

14 : Biotechnology

Development of biosensors for detecting environmental pollutants.

This internship will involve designing biosensors based on enzymes or fluorescent bacteria to detect chemical and microbiological contaminants in water.

Experimental validation will be conducted in the lab, using fluorescence microscopy techniques to analyze results.

Field tests will be performed to evaluate the biosensor's effectiveness.